

Promotion for trainers through trial sessions

Foroso Communications supports new online portal for trainers

Munich, December 1, 2003 – At www.dasOnlinePortal.de , trainers have access to a new opportunity: to offer trial sessions for their presentations. Foroso provides the required virtual classroom technology.

As of January 2004, Glänzer & Glänzer professional services will offer in cooperation with Foroso Communications a new portal, where trainers can promote their presentations free of cost.

At <http://www.dasOnlinePortal.de> , trainers provide parts of their seminars, based on virtual classrooms from Foroso. In 60 minutes, participants can get introductions to seminars and can familiarize themselves with the trainer.

With the new medium „virtual classroom“, trainers can exploit an effective opportunity to attract attention for their seminars. If successful, they can rent additional rooms for more online sessions.

Participants get a two-fold advantage: introduction into an interesting topic and no cost and time for travel, as he can participate conveniently from his home or office.

No prior technology expertise is required from trainers or participants. Trainers get an introduction from Heike Glänzer and can also be fully instructed to become professional eTrainers.
