

Foroso supported by extensive partner network

Foroso Communications represented at Learn- tec 2004 by ten partners

Munich, January 23, 2004 – A strong focus on its partner program helped Foroso Communications to set up many new partnerships. This becomes evident at Learntec 2004, where ten partners will exhibit their offerings. Learntec is Germany's largest eLearning show and will open in Karlsruhe on February 10, 2004.

One year ago at Learntec 2003, Foroso Communications announced a first new partnership with imc AG. This year, already ten partners of Foroso will exhibit at Learntec 2004, including digital spirit AG, efiport AGI, e/t/s didactic media AG, etz Stuttgart, imc AG, and mainware Multimedia GmbH. Additional partnerships will be announced at the Learntec event. This underlines the importance of Foroso's partner program.

„The eLearning market is an important segment for online meeting solutions“, states Franz Buchenberger, President and CEO of Foroso Communications. „Through our partnerships with many leading companies, we can bring our virtual classroom much faster to market.“
